

Yerkes Accused Bristol Women of Being Tools of a Brazen Ruffian Oligarchy---Lively Time at License Court.

YARDEV.
William Robinson spent Saturday and Sunday at his home in Philadelphia.
Mrs. John Holcomb, of Lambertville, is the guest of friends here this week.
Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kelly, of Philadelphia, were recent guests of friends in Yardley.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, of Trenton, were entertained by friends in Yardley recently.

Robert Eastburn was in attendance at the Friends Yearly Conference which is being held in Philadelphia this week.

Aaron & Rich purchased a good driving horse to take the place of their driving team, which they recently sold to T. S. Cadwallader.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dudley, of Frankford, Pa., came to Yardley on Saturday

The members of St. Ignatius have arranged to have a musical and festival for the benefit of the church in Odd Fellows

The regular monthly meeting of the Directors of the Cold Spring Bleaching and Finishing Works was held at the office of their employees on an average of two days per week out of a possible six. It is said that the Company will have to shut down entirely for a short time, unless the work comes forth more plentifully than it is doing at his time.

The moving picture entertainment which was to be given in the Methodist Church has been declared off, as it is thought that the process of showing the lime pictures might injure the interior of the building.

Tuesday afternoon of last week Miss Elizabeth Nickelson gave a farewell luncheon in honor of Miss Sarah Buckman, of Trenton, and Mrs. John Thompson, of Mrs. William Welsh and son William have returned to their home in Yardley after spending the winter in Philadelphia; Mr. Welsh returned some time ago. William has been quite ill since he left here.

A number of the residents of this town were in attendance at the circus which was held in Trenton last Friday, the 6th. The trolley company provided three cars per hour to carry the increased traffic, but all through the day break downs were

Thomas Johnson, Mayor of Cleveland, and a couple of friends passed through Yardley on Friday in an automobile. In fact they stopped in Yardley as the automobile ceased to move after it struck the restful influence of the town. They sent to Trenton, and a man was dispatched to

The party that went from Yardley to tour the South and West have been delayed in the Grand Canyon for several days due to a wreck on the railroad of a water train. This train brings water to the engines and as it was wrecked, and the water lost, the trains could not move so the entire party were forced to await the coming of the next train with water before they could go on their way. The food and drinking water was not very plentiful, but the party finally got through with little inconvenience so far as their personal comfort was concerned. They expect to return to Verdlay about the first of June.

MUNYON'S
PAW PAW

PAW PAW
The Great Natural Remedy for Indigestion and

Stomach Troubles
CURES NERVOUSNESS
Alcoholic Stimulants Lethal

Alcoholic Stimulants Lift, but Let You Fall; Paw Paw
Lifts and Holds You

---

Hundreds of People Declare in

Favor of Paw Paw

---

It Soothes the Nerves
It Rests the Nerves
It Feeds the Nerves

It Enables One to Sleep
It Is Nature's Own Remedy

I don't believe, says Prof. Munyon, that a better remedy for the blood and liver was ever compounded. I have seen sluggish livers that have refused to act under the usual treatments respond in Faw Paw seems to digest everything it touches, hence it makes good, rich blood, which in turn strengthens and vitalizes the whole nervous system.

I want all persons who suffer with dyspepsia or nervous trouble to cast away all other remedies and to give Faw Paw a fair trial. I want every weak

I know it will make old folks feel young and weak folks feel strong.

I want all persons who feel they are in need of a tonic to drop the use of alcoholic drinks of all kinds and take Paw Paw in its place. People don't crave for stimulants when the stomach is healthy.

and nerves are in a nervous excitement.
Munyon's Paw Paw gives exhilaration without intoxication.
Munyon's Paw Paw (Large Bottled), price $1b Paw Paw Laxative Pills 25c.
per box. At all druggists'.

NEWSPAPER ARCH

BUILD UP your Health and STRENGTH with JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE, a pleasant, potent, and permanent invigorator for WOMEN, CHILDREN, and MEN.

The Voice Which Spoke True

By Francis Livingston

WHAT follows is written for the purpose of giving the truthful version of a silly and scandalous story. This malicious tale has been circulated regarding a man who, although young, is widely known as a skilled scientist and who is only less widely known as a man of noble and unselfish impulses. It is the purpose of this article to cause the circle of his intimates to be necessarily smaller than that which is familiar with his achievements in the domain of science.

As for the woman in the case—of course, there being a scandal, it is unnecessary to quote the title French magazine—she is so obscure, so absolutely unknown of the thousands who have made merry over the story since one knew her last name—and, besides being blonde, she is so absurdly happy that it is hardly worth while to waste any sympathy upon her.

With Professor Babage, though, it is a different matter. When in the columns of society paper and yellow journal a man of his celebrity is said to have been seen by his fiancée, it is a door inopportunely (the place being the hallway of her own house, which of course made it all the worse), in the very act of kissing the hand of her maid—but why repeat the details of this cruelly misleading accusation? It is better to give them in sequence from the beginning.

On the 6th of September, 1901, then, it is well to be exact—three ladies were sitting in the second story front room of the Women's Auxiliary Society for Charitable Work, making fancy things for a coming church fair. They were Miss Virginia Ledyard, Miss Florida Smith and Mrs. Jack Harper. The two latter were young and pretty women. Miss Ledyard could hardly be included in this category, although she was a stately, fine-looking woman of some five and thirty summers.

The three ladies had been chatting earnestly as they stitched away on their work—embroidered centerpieces, worsted shawls, doll clothes and what not, which were intended for the fair. The talk had centered principally about Mrs. Jack Harper's husband and Miss Florida Smith's fiancé.

The appearance of Miss Ledyard's maid, Lucy, gave a new turn to the conversation. She had come with a package of colored silks her mistress had forgotten. Lucy was rather a remarkably pretty girl. Soft and gentle of voice, graceful and noiseless in movement, she was altogether an attractive and quite a refined young person.

"Lucy," said Miss Ledyard after she had opened the package of silks and made sure that the shades she wanted were all there, "as you leave please go to the top floor and ask the janitor to come down here when he can. I have a box I want him to take to the church."

"Very well, Miss Ledyard," And Lucy went out," said Mrs. Harper.

"Yes, Lucy is an exceptionally good and clever girl," replied Miss Ledyard; "of quite respectable family too. Mother knew her aunt when they were young—playmates, I believe. Then they met with reverses Lucy had to do something—what she could do best. So much more sensible than taking up china painting or going on the stage, don't you think so?—much more, much more," agreed both ladies.

"She understands so well all my different tastes, and she dresses my hair so nicely! No one else can do it as Lucy does. She is going home this evening for a month's vacation. I'm sure I don't know what I am to do without!"

A knock at the door interrupted Miss Ledyard.

"The janitor now," she continued. "Come in," she called.

The door opened slowly and revealed standing on the threshold a man who certainly did not look like a janitor. He was about thirty years old and dressed like a gentleman, although his brown hair was worn rather long and with a certain picturesque carelessness. A pair of dark eyes, shining sweetly and somewhat pathetically through the thick lenses of his eyeglasses.

Mrs. Harper, as the married woman of the party, arose and looked at him inquiringly. The stranger's first remark was somewhat peculiar.

"Ah, yes, ladies," he said. "I am looking for one," continued the visitor.

"Is there any particular lady you would like to see?" asked Mrs. Harper.

"Yes, madam, a very particular one," said the visitor. "I am looking for one," continued the visitor.

"I am looking for one," continued the visitor.

THE WIND'S MYSTERY.

Mountain and Valley Breezes and How they Originate.

The meteorologist is gradually divesting the wind of its mystery and is able to explain convincingly how and when it originates. The study of a great number of observations taken simultaneously all over the country and, in fact, all over two continents has enabled the experts to forecast just when wind and storm will arrive at certain sections of the country.

Of course the physical topography of any neighborhood has its influence on the local storms, fogs and prevailing winds. The "mountain" and "valley breezes" that are so eagerly sought during the summer recreation or sojourning are an instance of the effect of the local topography on the weather.

As a general rule, the wind is caused by a difference in the temperature of the air near the earth's surface and the air at a higher altitude. The warmer air is lighter and rises, and the cooler air is heavier and sinks, creating a circulation of air.

That is what is commonly designated locally as "the mountain breeze" and which, from its origin, is practically in one constant direction, though the intervention of powerful storms may temporarily reverse the movement.

Beavers in Montana.

The Beaver is Not a Very Timid Animal. It is Not Hunted.

The beaver is not a very timid animal and acquires confidence in a friendly watcher sooner than any other animal I know. Strangers or unusual clothes on a person to whom they have become accustomed.

The beaver's sense of smell is very acute, for he is able to scent a man 200 yards away, and his eyesight is also most keen, but he seems to be dull of hearing when at work, and I have often walked to within a few feet of one while he was cutting wood.

How, then, does he manage to guard his home, like those of a beaver? He does so by the use of his long, flat tail which is so characteristic a feature of the animal and which not only helps him in swimming, but is used for carrying mud.

If a large animal appears at a place where beavers want to work or feed the latter will often "smoke" the water continually, one after another joining in, till the intruder is scared away. I have had a thorough watching at night while watching a pond through the splashing made by this trick.

I saw my first beavers in the Musselshell river in Montana. At first they dived whenever they became aware of my presence, but after about a month they paid no attention when I stood on the bank and in the summer they would swim around or cut bushes within a few feet of me. In fact, they repeatedly stole my fishing poles out from green willows until I learned to use dry ones—Country Life in America.

The Worst of All.

"Pa, is retribution the worst thing a person can have?"

"No, it isn't half as bad as the feeling one has after he has confessed and then discovered that he wouldn't have been found out if he had kept quiet," Chicago Record-Herald.

She Thought So Too.

Little Brother—Do you know, Mabel, I believe if I weren't here Captain Spooner would kiss you.

"Leave the room this minute, you impudent little boy!"—Punch.

Scott's Emulsion is the means of life and of the enjoyment of life of thousands of men, women and children.

To the men Scott's Emulsion gives the flesh and strength so necessary for the cure of consumption and the repairing of body losses from any wasting disease.

For women Scott's Emulsion does this and more. It is a most sustaining food and tonic for the special trials that women have to bear.

To children Scott's Emulsion gives food and strength for growth of flesh and bone and blood. For pale girls, for thin and sickly boys Scott's Emulsion is a great help.

Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409-411 Pearl Street, New York. 50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

OYSTER FARMS.

The Natural and Artificial Beds in Eastern Virginia.

In eastern Virginia there are several thousand acres of oyster farms where oysters are raised by artificial methods on artificial beds. The natural oyster bed is where the oyster breeds and matures naturally.

There are thousands of acres of such beds in the Chesapeake bay system of salt water. In such beds the oysters breed by the millions, and as they are too close together they cannot all reach a satisfactory growth.

If taken when small—from these natural beds and strewn along on the bottoms where there are no oysters naturally, at the rate of 600 to 1,000 bushels per acre, such young oysters mature and ripen off for market some in one and the rest in two years.

There is a profit in such work when intelligently managed of 25 to 33 1/3 per cent. Probably more than 100,000 acres of artificial oyster beds are made to grow an oyster crop in addition to the acreage embraced in the natural beds. The area of artificial beds is increasing rapidly each year.

One singular feature about the oyster is this: They all look exactly alike, there being no difference between the male and the female externally or internally. In fact, the art of man is not sufficient to distinguish one sex from another. Another unique feature is this: The male oyster "lays" as many eggs as the female—"equal rights" we perceive.

The eggs of the male are called "milt," and the eggs of the female are called "spawn." An ordinary full grown oyster is supposed to lay a million eggs a year. In spawning season the water is full of these eggs, and when the milt and the spawn come in contact and the water is at the right temperature life is imparted to the microscopic egg, and it drops to the bottom, where, if it succeeds in grasping hold of something, such as another oyster or shell or rock or anything to hang on to, the tiny creature begins to form its shell and in a few weeks becomes visible to the eye.

Country Gentleman.

AN ELEPHANT TRAIT.

The Animal While Busy Will Never Injure a Person.

An elephant never injures a person when it is busy. It is an animal trained with a big circus. "It may sound strange, but there is not a case on record of one getting ugly when it was performing or working."

The reason, I think, is that the elephant is an animal of one idea—that is, it can think of only one thing at a time.

When a circus elephant is at work it gives its whole attention to its task. Great part of its education? No, just inability to think of two things at once. When it gets busy it takes a lot to distract its attention, and it never stops to think about a private grievance.

If we start a horse or a dog doing a trick we can't have it for a minute or it will just stop work altogether, but it is different with an elephant. Once he gets started, either alone or with others, and it will go through with its turn without another word. It is absorbed in its work.

That same trait, I take it, is what makes an elephant such a vicious animal when it gets ugly. It can think of nothing but what has made it angry, and it will stop until it has torn something to pieces. Oh, yes, an elephant can carry a grudge. It never forgets an injury, and it waits its chance to get even, but when it is busy it forgets the tricks that have been played on it. It is only when it has nothing to do that it gets to brooding over its troubles. Human, eh? Well, I have known folk with that sort of disposition.

Out of Her Line.

"So you were at Mrs. Marrable's dinner yesterday, Flossie. What was the menu like?"

"I really can't tell you, for I didn't take any. It's a thing I very seldom touch."

Now is the proper time to invest in a first-class Gasoline Stove. Tin Roofing a Specialty. Custom work done in tin, sheet-iron, copper and lead. Jobbing and repairing in all its branches attended to promptly. Store repairs of all kinds.

NO. 10 MILL STREET, BRISTOL, PA.

BEER ABSOLUTELY PURE

SOLD BY W. H. FINK, J. J. KILGORE, M. J. SILBERT, W. S. SILBERT, M. J. SWEENEY. BOTTLED BY J. M. WINNER.

THE OLEOPATRA COSMETIC CO.

DO YOU WANT TO BUILD DO YOU WANT GOOD MATERIAL DO YOU WANT REASONABLE PRICES?

IF SO CALL AT Leibfreid's Lumber Yard.

COAL PRICES REDUCED.

PEIRCE & WILLIAMS

A COOL OFFICER.

He Faced an Angry London Mob and Got Fair Play.

During the reform riots in Hyde park, London, in 1880 the mob on a well remembered night began tearing down the fences of Hyde park for fires and barricades. Colonel Thomas Watson Higginson tells of his experience with the mob.

He received a summons from the war department, telling him that his regiment was ordered out to deal with the mob.

He hastened back to his own house, but when he called for his horse he found that his servant had received permission to go out for the evening and had the key of the stable in his pocket. The officer hastily donned his uniform and then had to proceed on foot to the guards' armory, which lay on the other side of Hyde park.

Walking lastly in that direction, he came out unexpectedly at the very headquarters of the mob, where they were already piling up the fences.

His uniform was recognized, and angry shouts arose. It must have seemed for the moment to the mob that the Lord had delivered their worst enemy into their hands.

There was but one thing to be done. He made his way straight toward the center of action and called to a man who was mounted on the pile and was evidently the leader of the tumult.

"I say, my good man, my regiment has been called out by her majesty's orders. Will you give me a hand over this pile?"

The man hesitated a minute and then said, with decision: "Boys, the gentleman is right. He is doing his duty, and we have no quarrel with him. Lend a hand, and help him over."

This was promptly done, with entire respect, and the officer in brilliant uniform went hastily on his way and three cheers for his work, to complete it if possible before he whom they aided should come back at the head of his regiment and perhaps order them to be shot down.

POKER CHIPS.

There are more than four "knaves" to the pack in some games.

In big hands, as with big guns, you want to look out for the result.

It may be good advice to "bet your hand for all its worth," but it is a mighty dangerous thing to bet it for all or more than you are worth.

Novice asks which is the right way to cut the cards. Our experience teaches us, my boy, that the right way is to cut them precisely as does a gilded hog a shabby acquaintance.—New York Herald.

The Tactful Barber.

"Do you shave yourself, sir?" "No, sir, I don't."

"It was only going to say, sir, that it's done as well as any professional could do it."

That nettled him an extra tip—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Johnny's Premonition.

"Come, Johnny," coaxed his mother. "You may as well confess that you ate the jam."

"I won't," blubbered Johnny. "I'll be switched if I do!"—Chicago Tribune.

Some people seem always sure they are right and then do the other thing. —Philadelphia Record.

Ignorance is bold and knowledge reserved.—Thucydides.

FINANCIAL.

Burlington City Loan and Trust Co.

BURLINGTON, N. J.

Capital and Surplus, $200,000

Allows 3 Per Cent.

RENTS SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES.

OFFICERS:

DIRECTORS:

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

JOHN A. ALLINSON, Burlington, Real Estate Broker.

TRANSPORTATION.

Pennsylvania Railroad.

Schedule in effect November 3, 1901.

Leave Bristol for Philadelphia.

Leave Philadelphia for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for Trenton.

Leave Trenton for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for New York.

Leave New York for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for Philadelphia.

Leave Philadelphia for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for Trenton.

Leave Trenton for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for New York.

Leave New York for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for Philadelphia.

Leave Philadelphia for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for Trenton.

Leave Trenton for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for New York.

Leave New York for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for Philadelphia.

Leave Philadelphia for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for Trenton.

Leave Trenton for Bristol.

Leave Bristol for New York.